FCC,I would like to completely eliminate ANY requirement for morse code from the amateur licensing procedure.

I tried for 25 years to get an amateur license and just could not pass the code portion. When the no-code tech was announced, I got a license. Only to find that VHF and UHF was full of old CBers. I took the general written test and passed it. Never got the general because of the code requirements. I am a Dyslexic and just can't learn morse code!

My tech license has expired and I will not renew until the code requirement has been removed and I can get a general license.

    William Estrada
    Formally KD6VEG